

Jack is a super sweet and super friendly Collie/Corgi blend rescued from a very full shelter in TX. Jack would love to hike and explore CO with his new people. He's approx 26 lbs and about 1-2 years old. Jack has not had a kind of hard life and therefor may be dog selective - he will require a family familiar with leash training and potential reactivity. Jack is very cat and kid friendly and just loves to be with his humans. Jack wants to please and will need some training as he still has puppy energy. He would love a secure fenced in yard to run around in. Little Jack just needs a family that will allow him some bumps in the road and that will guide him through the bumps. He promises that he will be the best little companion if someone would just give him a chance. If you would like to meet Jack please fill out an application at
